

Environmental Policy

Policy statement

We recognise that it has an obligation to present and future generations to minimise the impact of its operations on the environment. This responsibility is in line with current legislation and the contemporary environmental debate. We circulate details of our environmental policy to all staff and actively encourage them to make suggestions. It is expected that this feedback will improve the sustainability of our operations. Our policy is part of an environmental management system, which regularly reviews procedures and recommends improvements.

By operating in a more sustainable manner we show commitment to pollution prevention through reduced energy consumption, waste production and toxic emissions. We have an ISO14001 compliant Environmental management system. Our Health and Safety policy, in which the provision of a healthy working environment is paramount, sits alongside our ISO9001 Quality Standard. This standard is utilised to augment our environmental policy.

We manage our environmental system by:

- Taking steps to prevent pollution
- Understanding our environmental aspects and impact which we have identified as:
 - Energy usage in our offices
 - Waste management
 - Environmental aspect arising from travel
- Setting objectives to continually improve our environmental performance
- Understanding the legal and other environmental compliance requirements on our business
- Where appropriate, we may provide practical advice to our clients and their consultants/contractors regarding the use of more sustainable materials and processes.

These factors apply at all levels of our operations.

As a major sector in the UK economy the construction industry has an important role to play in improving the social and environmental conditions of the UK population. As part of the construction industry we have an obligation to manage our activities in the most sustainable manner possible and make others aware of their obligations.

Further details on the different aspects of our environmental policy, together with other policies, are available on request. Any questions about this policy should be addressed to the Managing Director.
